(flashcard 2)     Spotty, the hyena, is very sad. He has lost his laugh.

(flashcard 3)     He went to look for it. “Please help me find my laugh, giraffe”, asked the hyena.

(flashcard 4)     “I can’t hear a laugh up here”, answered the giraffe.

(flashcard 5)     “Please help me find my laugh, hippo.”

(flashcard 6)     “I can’t hear a laugh down here,” said the hippo.

(flashcard 7)     “Please help me find my laugh, warthog,” said Spotty.
“I can’t hear a laugh in here,” said the warthog.

(flashcard 8)     “Please help me find my laugh, monkey.”

(flashcard 9)     “How did you lose it?” the monkey said.

(flashcard 10)     “When I laugh, you can see my big teeth. That makes everyone frightened,” said Spotty. “Then I got sad and my laugh just disappeared. I can’t find it anywhere,” added Spotty.

(flashcard 11)     “But you’re looking at the wrong place,” said the monkey. She jumped out of a tree and picked a feather.

(flashcard 12)     Then she began to tickle Spotty all over.

(flashcard 13)     Slowly, Spotty started smiling, and then he let out a big loud laugh. He laughed and laughed until he was rolling around the ground.

(flashcard 14) All the other animals started laughing too. “Where did you find his laugh?”, they asked the monkey.

(flashcard 15) “His laugh was inside him all the time. I just made him happy and out it came,” said the monkey.

(flashcard 16) They all laughed and laughed so that their teeth showed too.

(flashcard 17) “I will never lose my laugh again,” said Spotty, the happy hyena.
